Newspaper Clipping summaries from Business line, Business standard and Economic times (28/02/2026)

1. India's IT services sector must shift from an offensive growth mindset to a defensive strategy as AI disrupts traditional business models and revenue streams.
   Firms need to prioritize efficiency, reskilling, and AI integration to remain competitive amid slowing demand and rapid technological change.

   https://ibb.co/nsH04KQC

2. India is accelerating investments in AI, electric vehicles, and defence to strengthen its domestic semiconductor ecosystem, aiming to reduce import dependence.
   The report projects India's semiconductor market could reach about $103 billion by 2030, driven by strong policy support and rising demand.

   https://ibb.co/27GN8R80

3. India's AI adoption is accelerating faster than global trends, driven by strong enterprise demand and sectors like finance and manufacturing embracing data-driven transformation.

   Companies like Snowflake see India as a key growth market, with rising investments, expanding AI projects, and increasing focus on data infrastructure and cloud platforms.

   https://ibb.co/vvYvbdZH

4. Indian companies are rapidly integrating AI into boardroom decisions, shifting focus from experimentation to strategic adoption and immediate implementation.

   Boards are inducting tech-savvy members and prioritizing AI-driven efficiency, governance, and long-term competitive advantage across sectors.

   https://ibb.co/HLYTpCFn

5. Block (Jack Dorsey's fintech firm) is cutting 4,000 employees — nearly half its workforce — replacing them with AI tools, including its own called Goose. The stock jumped 27% on the news, reflecting investor enthusiasm for AI-driven cost cuts despite broader concerns about widespread job losses.
   https://ibb.co/DHP2GkZF

6. Infosys founder NR Narayana Murthy reassured that AI will enhance productivity rather than eliminate jobs, drawing parallels with past tech disruptions like core banking that ultimately expanded employment. He stressed the need for retraining, highlighted untapped potential in IoT, healthcare, and agriculture, and said legacy systems will continue generating opportunities even as AI adoption accelerates.
   https://ibb.co/N67GRfNY

7. Global executive search firms like Heidrick & Struggles, Korn Ferry, and Sheffield Haworth are increasingly turning to India for senior leadership talent, driven by the country's strong economic growth, dynamic capital markets, and deep skilled talent pool. Demand is surging across AI, digital transformation, insurance, real estate, and BPO sectors, with India seen as a strategic leadership hub for global multinationals.

   https://ibb.co/Tn5DqGy