Newspapers Clipping Summaries from Business Line, Business Standard and The Economic Times (26-02-2026)

1. India's manufacturing growth depends on smart factories driven by automation, digital connectivity, and skilled leadership to boost productivity and global competitiveness.

To tackle AI-led job disruption, education reform and large-scale reskilling are essential to prepare the workforce for emerging technology-driven roles.

https://ibb.co/nsHrt9BG

2. embedUR Systems has launched ModelNova, a suite of 150+ edge AI models for on-device use, and will invest ₹100 crore to expand its Chennai operations.

The company is scaling its workforce and infrastructure, aiming for edge intelligence to match its traditional software business by 2027.

https://ibb.co/xqR3SB94

3. TCS CEO K. Krithivasan urged employees at all levels to actively use AI in building customer solutions, stressing that AI adoption will create opportunities rather than threaten jobs.

He highlighted growing AI investments and organisational training, as TCS advances its goal of becoming an AI-led technology services company.

https://ibb.co/xyWfV1f

4. Despite one of the strongest earnings seasons in recent years, US stocks have seen limited gains, reflecting a disconnect between corporate performance and market returns.

Investor caution around AI-driven valuations and broader economic uncertainties has kept markets from rallying further.

https://ibb.co/QvssMkP4

5. A Citigroup research report warns that rapid advances in AI could trigger widespread white-collar job losses, fueling market anxiety and economic uncertainty.
However, some experts argue AI will complement human work and create new roles rather than cause mass unemployment.

https://ibb.co/Q0LynmZ

6. India must prioritise developing its own foundational AI models tailored to its diverse demographics, languages, and societal needs. Experts stress that building balanced, representative datasets is crucial for achieving AI sovereignty and inclusive innovation.

https://ibb.co/nN0cPgwv

7. Filmmaker Shekhar Kapur says AI in India will rise from the grassroots, democratising knowledge and empowering innovation at the bottom of the pyramid. He adds that while AI can help solve local problems, its larger disruptions will be unpredictable and uniquely Indian in impact.

https://ibb.co/fdgqBb40

8. CCI Chairperson Ravneet Kaur says the AI ecosystem is opaque and requires stronger transparency and accountability to prevent market dominance abuses. She stresses the need for regulatory oversight to curb self-preferencing practices and protect consumers and fair competition.

https://ibb.co/mrHMC6MT

9. Noshir Kaka says AI could unlock a $300–400 billion opportunity for the IT services industry, but legacy systems will compress as the sector transforms. He stresses that firms must shift to outcome-based models, modernise tech infrastructure, and reskill talent to capture the AI-driven growth.

https://ibb.co/BH2ZvfL9

https://ibb.co/tMJGS0v2

10. Strong corporate earnings in the US have not been enough to push stocks higher as investors remain cautious about AI-driven valuations and market sustainability.

Despite solid profit growth, concerns over stretched valuations and broader economic pressures are limiting further market gains.

https://ibb.co/dJWdPBD1